

READING,

an important key to school success

DEAR PARENTS,

Today in class we read the book Les fantastiques livres volants de Morris Lessmore. The main character, Morris, writes about his pleasures, his sorrows, his history and what he knows. Tonight, your children are invited to share a part of their life through a collage, montage, series of words or phrases... you can help them remember highlights and complete their project. Once the work is completed, send it back to school.

Don't forget to have fun!

READING,

an important key to school success

DEAR PARENTS,

Today in class we read the book Les fantastiques livres volants de Morris Lessmore. The main character, Morris, writes about his pleasures, his sorrows, his history and what he knows. Tonight, your children are invited to share a part of their life through a collage, montage, series of words or phrases... you can help them remember highlights and complete their project. Once the work is completed, send it back to school.

Don't forget to have fun!

PARENTESTRIE.COM

